Professional maintenance service

Maintenance is more than mowing lawns, blowing leaves and pulling weeds. Gardens and landscapes change over time and need on going management and care. Climate change, extended drought and record heat waves are challenging horticultural conventions; this makes expert landscape and plant knowledge critical for maintaining the health and beauty of your garden.

Our aim is to protect and improve your garden investment, fertilising, pruning or replacing plants when needed, at the right time of year, and in keeping with the original design of the landscape. We build upon the qualities of existing gardens, enhancing their character while minimising ongoing maintenance.

Van Leeuwen Green currently maintains hundreds of gardens across Melbourne, covering private homes, body corporate apartments, and commercial and institutional landscapes. Some examples include heritage gardens, such as Invergowrie in Hawthorn, as well as various styles of medium to small residential gardens, residential apartments, and universities.

In 2015, 2022 and 2023, Van Leeuwen Green won the Landscaping Victoria award for 'Landscape maintenance and management', and we continue to strive towards excellence. Many of the gardens we maintain were also designed, constructed, or renovated by our landscape and garden renovation teams. They continue to support the ongoing improvement and development of these gardens, alongside our professional subcontractors, including arborists, irrigation technicians, garden lighting specialists, and pressure washing contractors. Managing Director, Hendrik Van Leeuwen's own garden is featured in the Australian Open Garden Scheme.

What we provide

Horticultural expertise

Our staff are fully qualified and trained in all aspects of plant care, including pruning, nutrition, irrigation systems and pest control. Van Leeuwen Green uses organic pest control methods, and organic fertilisers and mulches. Our maintenance staff can help you select appropriate plant species when replacement plants are required and advise you on plants generally, including tree selection and removal.

Attention to detail

Some routine maintenance tasks such as tidying paths and mowing lawns require relatively little expertise, but are very important, nonetheless. We make sure that the simple jobs are completed well, keeping your garden at its absolute best.

Flexibility and regularity

Most maintenance tasks need to be carried out on a regular basis. Frequency varies depending on the task and time of year. Mowing, for example, needs to be done frequently in spring, but less often in winter. Major cleanups and overhaul of existing plantings may only be required every few years. In addition, some clients like to carry out certain tasks themselves.

We dedicate a staff member to your garden in order to achieve a high level of commitment to its needs over time. This also allows our clients to develop gardens at their own pace, advised by their regular Van Leeuwen Green horticulturist. Whatever you require, we can tailor our maintenance program to make sure that jobs are carried out on time, and when you really need them done.

Access to all Van Leeuwen Green services
